Agricultural Bill Okayed by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department appropriation of $5,182,665,000, reduced $1,059,632,215 from last year's level, was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Sending the bill to the House, the committee directed the department to reshuffle some of its spending plans, continuing a number of research stations and programs that had been scheduled for elimination or reduction.

It told the department to balance the cost by cutting down on work for the Agency for International Development's programs.

The committee included $3 million for research on tobacco and insecticides, directing that it begin immediately.

Its report said the $8-billion tobacco industry is deeply affected by findings linking smoking with cancer and other diseases and it is vital "to determine the properties of tobacco which may affect the health of smokers and to develop means to eliminate any harmful substances found."

Publicity about pesticides, which the report said was "not always based on complete and objective information" and that sometimes presents "a completely one-sided point of view" has needlessly frightened consumers and damaged the interests of farmers and manufacturers, the committee said.

The committee also suggested that provision be made for "payment of financial losses to any producer, processor or manufacturer" resulting from government agencies' statements about pesticides, "where there is no evidence that their use endangers the public health."

Mother's Day Last Year Was Horrible

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Last year was such a horrible Mother's Day," said Antonia N. Svenson. "This Mother's Day I can go to church and pray a thanksgiving prayer."

This was Mrs. Svenson's reaction to word that her son, Army Capt. Alfred Svenson, had been returned by the Soviets a little more than a year after crossing into East Germany.

Mrs. Svenson, who escaped with her son from her native Lithuania during World War II, now works for the Library of Congress. She said she was told her husband had been killed in Lithuania during the war while they were separated.

She said she had no knowledge of why her son went to East Germany last May 4. At that time the official East German news agency said Svenson had asked for asylum.

"I don't know why he came back," she said in an interview today.

Plans are in the making now to give a $300 honeymoon couple married anytime in this period. If you have set the date, then write KXAR by Tuesday, May 12, giving name of bride and groom, date and hour of wedding and where it is to be held. Some lucky couple will go on a honeymoon loaded with gifts and it can be yours. The first ten couples to notify KXAR will be eligible for this honeymoon hope chest.

China Claims Russia Is Overcharging

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China said today the Soviet Union charged Peking much more than world prices for its aid goods and interest still is being paid on Soviet loans to fight the Korean War of 1950-52.

A Red Chinese letter sent to Moscow of Feb. 29 and broadcast today by Radio Peking complained that the Soviet leaders have "habitually played the benefactor and frequently boasted of their disinterested assistance."

"But we must point out that so far from being gratis, Soviet aid to China was rendered mainly in the form of trade and that it was certainly not a one-way affair."

"China has paid and is paying the Soviet Union in goods, gold or convertible foreign exchange for all Soviet-supplied complete sets of equipment and other goods, including those made available on credit plus interest."

"It is necessary to add that the prices of many of the goods we imported from the Soviet Union were much higher than those on the world market."

As to the Soviet loans to Red China, they were mostly spent on buying war material from the Soviet Union of which the greater part was used up in the Korean War, the letter said.

"For many years we have been paying the principal and interest on these Soviet loans, which account for a considerable part of our yearly exports to the Soviet Union," the letter added.

"Thus even the war material supplied to China in the war to resist U.S. aggression and aid Korea has not been given gratis."

Court Orders Halt Strike of Railmen

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. marshals served a court order early today ending the last of strikes against four railroads by firemen protesting the elimination of hundreds of firemen's jobs under an arbitration ruling.

The marshals served the temporary injunction against 25 pickets at the Joliet, Ill., switching yards of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway.

The order was issued in a special night session by U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman in Chicago.

More than 800 railway workers had respected the picket lines set up by the 25 firemen Thursday the hour of the start against three other railroads had already ended.

Firemen struck at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, the hour of the start of the job elimination, against two Illinois switching lines, the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and the Peoria & Pekin Union Railway. But about 10 hours later the walkout was called off by officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen after telephone calls from union chiefs in Washington. The strikes had idled about 950 workers.

Pickets appeared at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Conway, Pa., yards, the world's largest at dawn, but they left shortly after noon. About 400 of the 1,200 workers were affected by the strike.

All four strikes were unauthorized, union officials said, and in defiance of a 10-day restraining order prohibiting walkouts issued Tuesday in Washington by Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

Railroad representatives obtained the court order because of reported strike votes taken on several lines throughout the country. A hearing is set for Monday.

Fulbright Now in Amsterdam

AMSTERDAM (AP) — U. S. Sen. J. William Fulbright arrived today from Ankara to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the U. S. Educational Foundation in the Netherlands.

From the airport, the Arkansas Democrat went to the Hague for a crowded program including visits to Jan Jonkman, chairman of the Dutch Senate, Education Minister Theo Bot and Foreign Minister Joseph Luns.

Tonight Fulbright and Bot will address the anniversary ceremony in the "Ridderzaal" Hall of Knights in the Hague.

During the 15 years of the program nearly 2,000 Dutch and American professors, teachers and students have been exchanged.

Saturday morning Queen Juliana will receive Fulbright and his wife at the Soestdijk Palace.

Drugged U.S. Attaches Leave for Finland

By REINHOLD ENS
MOSCOW (AP)—Two of the American military attaches who said they were drugged in Odessa left today for Leningrad and Finland.

An American Embassy spokesman said they were going to Helsinki, the Finnish capital, for a brief holiday and would return to Moscow.

The attaches are Air Force Lt. Col. William L. Van Meter and Marine Lt. Col. James M. Landrigan.

A third American who said he was drugged, U.S. Navy Cmdr. Sumner Shapira, remained on duty in Moscow.

The embassy disclosed Thursday night that it had protested to the Soviet government that the three officers were drugged March 25 while on a trip to the Black Sea port of Odessa, where American ships have been docking with wheat shipments.

The British Foreign Office announced that an assistant British naval attaché, Lt. Cmdr. John Harvey-Samuel, was with the Americans and also was drugged. The British joined in the American protest.

British sources said Harvey-Samuel and his wife also had left Moscow, for Warsaw but the sources said they left their year-old son with his English nurse and would return.

The attaches reported they felt unusually drowsy after dinner. The State Department said medical tests showed the men had been given enough barbiturates to cause drowsiness. They suffered no physical harm, however, the department said.

U.S. officials said they did not know of any theft of documents or attempts to compromise the attaches while they were asleep in their hotel rooms.

Last February, two U.S. naval attaches were harassed by a mob in Leningrad. In March, two U.S. Air Force attaches and a British air force attaché were surrounded by a mob in Tulsa. These incidents also were protested, and a U.S. Embassy spokesman said the embassy suspected both mobs were "inspired" by Soviet officials.

Nelson Winner at Ouachita

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York won a mock Republican presidential preferential primary election at Ouachita Baptist College Thursday.

Rockefeller got 35 per cent of the 524 votes.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, got 25 per cent; Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, 17; former Vice President Richard Nixon, 15; Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, 2; Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, 2 and Michigan Gov. George Romney, 1.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace got two per cent of the votes as a write-in candidate.

In a Democratic preferential primary for vice president, Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas pulled in 33 per cent of the votes.

Runners-up were Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, 31 per cent; Peace Corps director R. Sargent Shriver, 15; Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California; and Mayor Mayor Robert Wanger of New York City, 1.

The college political science department sponsored the primary.

Murder Trial Jury Polled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Judge William J. Kirby polled the jury today as the murder trial of James Dean Walker reopened, to find out if the fainting of a witness Thursday affected them.

The jury report was negative.

Mrs. Jerrell Vaughan, wife of the North Little Rock policeman Walker is accused of killing April 16, 1963, in a gunbattle, fainting after testifying Thursday afternoon.

The court heard testimony today from one witness before recessing to wait for a physician who was unable to appear until 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Frank Delano, manager of a Little Rock motel, testified that two girl companions of Walker and Walter Freeman Kumpke arrived at the motel in separate cabs the night of the shooting. Kumpke was in the car with Walker when the shooting occurred.

More Jobs Open as Economy Expands But Percentage of Jobless Stubbornly High

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—More jobs are opening up as the economy expands. But the percentage of those in the labor force that can't find work stays stubbornly high.

Just adding 750,000 more jobs in April—nicely above the usual seasonal trend—wasn't enough.

Some years back an unemployment rate of 4 per cent of the labor force was considered too much. Now government officials are happy when they can report it's under 5.5 per cent. Somewhat wistfully they talk of chances of getting it below 5 per cent maybe by next year.

The labor force is the total at any one time of those with jobs or looking for them. The unemployment rate is the percentage of this total that reports it wants to work but can't find a job.

The number of those with jobs keeps rising. It's now above 70 million, some 1.8 million more than a year ago.

But the labor force keeps rising just as fast or faster.

Part of this is due to the much discussed population explosion—the fact that now, and in the next few years, increasing numbers of young people will be reaching the job-holding or job-seeking age.

But in recent months a growing prosperity has increased the labor force from another source. Attractive jobs are opening up now and during those who aren't interested at other times. They enter the labor force or drop out as the kind of work they like or can handle expands or declines in their communities.

Modern home appliances have made it possible for more married women to handle both housework and outside jobs.

Also complicating any assessment of the nation's labor picture is a growing amount of moonlighting in recent years. This is the holding of more than one job by the same person. Often this is to gain much needed additional income. But often it is to lift the family into a higher status, to provide desired gadgets or more expensive vacations.

Something Has to Give Today

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—Something has to give on Juan Macias' place today either the Texas Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s cable underlying the land, or the farmer's determination in a phone bill fuss.

Macias has his tractor parked beside the cable ready to jerk it out unless the company begins removing it by 4 p.m.

He received verbal support Thursday from the Rev. Collin Furr, president of a telephone subscribers association opposing a recent rate increase of 33 1/2 per cent.

The farmer and some 2,000 other subscribers want the rate hike rescinded, or their phones removed. The company cut Macias' service after he paid part of a back bill, but he contends that if he doesn't have service, the company shouldn't have access across his land.

"I've got to do this to show them I mean business," Macias said.

No Session on Rights Issue on Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders announced there would be no session Saturday in the civil rights debate. It was another sign that pressure through prolonged sessions was easing off.

Senators applauded when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant leader, said the Senate would recess at the close of today's business until Monday.

The Senate has met every Saturday since the debate started March 9 except for the Easter weekend.

The leaders also appear practically to have abandoned night sessions in the marathon debate.

The leaders are basing their hopes for passage of the bill on negotiations being conducted in the office of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, to work out a package of amendments to the bill.

Today's study was of changes Dirksen wants in the public accommodations section.

Cold Front Moves Into Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front moving eastward into Arkansas is expected to bring numerous showers and thunderstorms this weekend.

Warm, moist southerly winds will move in front of the front, keeping temperatures mild.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts cloudy to partly cloudy skies through Saturday with high temperatures in the 80s and low readings in the 60s.

High temperatures Thursday were in the upper 70s and low 80s. Overnight low readings were in the upper 60s and low 70s.

Hard to Find Cause of Failure

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Suburban residents searched for almost an hour before they found the cause of an electricity failure Thursday.

When two employees of the city golf course located the trouble, no one believed them.

A jeep from an Air Force C130 cargo plane apparently fell out of the aircraft and parachuted onto a power line.

A spokesman from the Tactical Air Warfare Center at Eglin Air Force Base said the jeeps are normally secured in the plane.

No one was injured. A power company workman said the lines were only burned.

LBJ Calls for Justice Among the Races

By FRANK CORMIER
ATLANTA (AP) — President Johnson got a massive public reception today in the streets of Atlanta after making a forceful appeal for "justice among the races."

Johnson's 8-mile motorcade through the largest city in the Deep South drew cheering crowds estimated by police at more than 500,000.

The President constantly stopped his car after leaving a closed car to ride in a convertible. He stood on the trunk and spoke to the crowds through a megaphone.

Streets were jammed with people. They crowded in about the President's car when he stopped to comment on a sign that said, "We're the school that gave $100 to the camel driver"—a reference to famous Johnson-inspired trip of a Pakistani camel driver.

"We love Atlanta and its people," he told the crowds.

In an earlier speech, Johnson urged rejection of extremists "who seek to stir old hostilities and kindle old hatreds."

Johnson made his dramatic appeal for the civil rights cause in an address prepared for a breakfast meeting with members of the press.

Thinks State to Benefit From Plan

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that Arkansas will benefit greatly from President Johnson's war on poverty and he is gearing state agencies to help in the fight.

The governor discussed in a news conference poverty, depressed areas and things that have been done about them in the past and things that can be done in the future.

Faubus said he would call heads of various state departments which might be concerned in the war on poverty and that he would designate Ted Morley, director of the state Planning Commission, as general chairman of a committee of these department heads.

"They'll study the program and be prepared with projects ready to be initiated when the general program is approved by Congress."

Faubus said he was enthusiastically behind the program, which he believes "can do more for the underprivileged than has been done in a long time and more than can be done in any other way if it is properly administered by practical, realistic people."

Faubus launched into a far-ranging discussion of underprivilege, which is one of his favorite topics, when he was asked about whether the mountain areas of Arkansas are as bad off as Appalachia.

"I don't think so," Faubus said. "But I haven't seen Appalachia. I know that at one time the coal mining area in Arkansas was as hard-hit as Appalachia."

The governor listed the Coal Hill, Spadra, Ozark, Clarksville and Mansfield areas as ones which have been especially hard hit by the decline in coal mining.

"But the economic situation in these areas has been greatly improved by... industry," Faubus said. "The industrial growth of Fort Smith for example, has absorbed a large number of these people."

Faubus said that all through the mountain areas of Arkansas there is substantial underemployment and that there are large numbers of people whose family income is below what is termed the poverty level.

In outlining why he favors the program, Faubus said, "I've always said that we have great affluence, that prosperity is at an all-time high, but there are still pockets of poverty and many individuals, even in the most prosperous areas, who are not sharing in this wealth."

Faubus said he was enthusiastically behind efforts to improve the economic situation in the mountains of Arkansas by expanding the tourist industry and that such an expansion should probably be a goal of the war on poverty.

Viet Nam War Baffling to Americans

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam is baffling American officials but, trying to figure it out, they must be setting a record for think-tanks and look-sees.

Now President Johnson is sending Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara hustling back to Viet Nam again for another look, his fifth in 12 months, plus five he made to Honolulu for conferences on how to win the war.

Squads of other officials have been over to one or both places, including Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; President Johnson when he was vice president; and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Johnson and Kennedy made Viet Nam a stop on their world tours.

The war itself has been going from bad to worse, making the optimism of some of these eminent American visitors look a little incredible in retrospect.

Johnson, for instance, was so carried away he made 15 impromptu speeches and dashed around shaking hands with the crowds the way he does now with tourists at the White House.

He sized up the dictatorial President of Viet Nam, Ngo Dinh Diem, and promptly compared him with Sir Winston Churchill, although even then Diem was far from universally beloved. This was in May 1961.

(On Nov. 1, 1963, the Vietnamese showed how much they disagreed with Johnson by assassinating Diem and his brother in a military coup which took over the government.)

President Kennedy knew it was no perfect setup. In October, 1961, he sent Taylor over. Within a month Diem announced he would put in reforms. They were badly needed. And then he forgot them.

McNamara seemed to express the most optimism about a war which clearly wasn't going well, although this country had pumped in about $5 billion in aid over eight years, has 15,000 troops there, and over 220 Americans have been killed.

This is a list of the trips and the sayings:

January, 1962 — McNamara's first trip to Honolulu for an American military conference on Viet Nam. He came away saying he felt "encouraged."

February, 1962 — McNamara announced a new U.S. military command in Viet Nam and flew back to Honolulu for another conference.

February, 1962 — While McNamara was in Hawaii, Robert Kennedy was in Viet Nam saying "we have great confidence in President Diem."

May, 1962 — McNamara took his first plunge into Viet Nam and left saying he felt "tremendously encouraged."

July, 1962 — Despite his encouraged feeling, he went to Honolulu for another think-tank with the U.S. military. He came away a little gloomier, thought now winning in Viet Nam might "take years rather than months."

September, 1962 — This time Taylor to Viet Nam. He told reporters the "Vietnamese are on the right track." If so, they sure got off it later.

June, 1963 — By now Viet Nam was in emotional flames made bright by Buddhist monks protesting Diem's treatment. Kennedy sent Henry Cabot Lodge over as ambassador to see what he could do.

September, 1963 — McNamara and Taylor back to Viet Nam. On their return they reportedly told a Senate committee: "We are winning out there" and things "are progressing very well on both the military and political fronts."

November, 1963 — This was the month in which McNamara and Taylor may have wished they hadn't made that statement in September. Diem and his brother were assassinated. President Kennedy was slain in Dallas, and the new President Johnson said he would carry on Kennedy's program in Viet Nam.

Just two days before Kennedy's killing, McNamara, Taylor and a whole raft of top officials were in a Honolulu talk-think on Viet Nam.

December, 1963 — McNamara back to Viet Nam. Once more: "Optimistic."

January, 1964 — The military junta which got rid of Diem was thrown out by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, who took charge.

March, 1964 — McNamara back to Viet Nam. Not so sunny this time, said "the path to victory may be hard." And no wonder.

Last weekend Red frogmen were credited with sinking a U.S. aircraft ferry.

May 6, 1964 — Johnson announced another McNamara trip to Viet Nam.

58 Seeking New Terms Get Foes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fifty-eight of the 92 Democratic Arkansas House members seeking re-election this summer face opposition from fellow Democrats, Republicans or both.

Nine of 15 incumbent senators are opposed in their re-election bids.

Figures compiled by the Legislative Council show that 34 incumbents and 24 newcomers are opposed in the House.

Sixteen House members have only Republican opponents, 34 are opposed only in the primary and eight have both Democratic and Republican opposition.

In addition, one House member, Rep. Dillard Collins, an independent two years ago, is running this year as a Republican. He is unopposed in his primary and will meet Russell J. Benton, the man he beat two years ago, in the general election. Benton is an unopposed Democrat.

The Republicans are involved in 27 of the House races. In two counties—Searcy and Perry—two persons have filed for the House on the GOP ticket, necessitating Republican primaries.

The Republicans have four candidates for the Senate. Two are running against incumbent Democrats with no primary opposition. One will oppose the front-runner of three Democratic candidates for a vacant position and one is waiting the result of a primary between an incumbent and his Democratic primary opponent.

All 15 senators whose terms expire this year are seeking re-election. In addition, two vacant seats must be filled.

Here is a district-by-district breakdown on the state Senate races:

1st District: Democrat: Sen. Russell Elrod. Republican: Frank H. Nelson.

8th District: Democrat: Sen. John O. Moore vs. Bob W. Douglas. Republican: Bethel B. Larey.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Janine Gray's shocked British friends will take more kindly to her attire in her second Hollywood film.

She's playing a lead with Robert Morse and George Maharis in "Quick, Before It Melts," a comedy set in Antarctica. Janine is quite properly covered up with sweaters over sweaters topped by parka.

A bit different from her last cinema "The Americanization of Emily." That's when her chums were startled at reports that she had played a scene in the nude.

"But I wasn't nude," she protests. "I wore pants."

That is all, however. She resisted efforts of MGM officials who wanted her to wear "pasties," a trade term for a flesh-colored adhesive about the size of a silver dollar.

"I refused," Janine declared. "Why, those little things make

Judgment Awarded for $61,191

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. White of Jonesboro were awarded $61,191 by a Pulaski County Circuit Court jury here Wednesday in the death of their son in a hospital.

Mark A. White, 11, died Jan. 13, 1962, in St. Vincent Infirmary here, after being admitted Jan. 9, 1962, suffered from acute laryngeal edema or croup.

The parents filed suit, contending that Mrs. Polly Miles, a nurse, damaged blood vessels around a small opening made in the boy's windpipe, causing internal bleeding.

The suit, filed against Mrs. Miles and the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. of Connecticut, said Mrs. Miles damaged the vessels by moving a tube which had been placed in the opening to make breathing easier for the boy.

Aetna issued the hospital a liability policy.

IT'S TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME AT YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER'S

Five different lines of cars—forty-five different models to choose from. Come early and trade great!

Now that spring's in full swing, you'll find new Chevrolets perfect for picking.

Luxury—First, there's the big Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Sumptuous and soft riding with a fat coil spring at all four wheels to smother bumps. Over 700 sound stoppers throughout the car to blot out wind and road noise. Interiors luxuriously done up in the newest and softest vinyls.

Trade what you're driving for one of these, and you won't want to trade seats with anybody else on the road.

Spirit—Next, Chevelle. The beautifully in-between size car that combines small car handling oomph with big car comfort. Order to your liking in sedan, coupe, station wagon and convertible body styles. Eleven different models that you can equip with just about any extra-cost option you can imagine. No place to go this summer? Get a new Chevelle—you'll think of something.

Economy—Chevy II—the car that takes to inexpensive vacations naturally. It just goes and goes, and where it stops nobody knows. But for all its thrift, it's anything but under-furnished. Did you know that the Super Sport Coupe has bucket seats and door-to-door carpeting? Eight models to pick from, including wagons with room to swallow up an eight-foot Christmas tree. (Plan ahead, we always say.)

Fun—Then there's Corvair. The fun one with the engine in the rear for unbelievable traction. Spring mud, summer sand, winter snow—nothing stops it. You'll even think they're now paving highways with adhesive tape the way Corvairs cling to them.

Corvette. The enthusiast's car. Sting Ray Sport Coupe and Convertible. Still America's only true sports cars. Pick either one and you'll find it does for your driving what holidays do for kids.

Performance—And with any new Chevrolet you choose, you can get the standard engine for all the power you need in everyday come-and-go driving. Or you can pick from a wide, wide range of extra-cost engines for maximum performance.

Either way, whether you've got some place special to go this summer or not, when you trade for one of Chevrolet's five great highway performers—you'll travel!

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Nobody ever said we'd have a 30 minute satire show every week," said Leland Hayward, almost angrily. "That Was the Week That Was" is simply a program that makes comments on what's going on in the world."

Hayward is executive producer and owner of the Friday night NBC show.

"I think that, all things considered, we're doing pretty well, although I'm never happy with it and am always trying to make it better," the producer continued. "But all satire—never."

"We're always in a rush," he said, "and much of the time we have to cut, rewrite, even add new material between the dress rehearsal and the time we're on the air. Occasionally, something that looked okay in the dress rehearsal bothers us when it goes on the air—that business about Eisenhower, for instance, should never have been in."

He referred to mimicking the ex-president in a way that affronted some viewers.
Hayward said that he is spending "just about all my time" on the show—much more than he planned—and currently is busy trying out new people.

He worries most about the sketches, knowing that most of them cannot be honed to perfection in limited time.

Next season, the show will be moved to a Tuesday night berth to spend Mother's Day with Mrs. Steve Carrigan, Jr. will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Prather and Mary Della of Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Routon, Mrs. Don Evans, and George Peck, Jr. are going to the community Theater Conference in Little Rock this weekend at the Arkansas Arts Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Roberts, Charlotte, N.C., are here visiting his sister, Mrs. Wanda Grimmerl and his brother, C. L. Roberts, Davis Grimmerl, and Mrs. Roberts.

Last week those going to the Federation of Garden Clubs meeting in Hot Springs included Mrs. Bob Turner, Mrs. Lyle McMahan, Mrs. Jim James, Mrs. Guy Basye, Mrs. J. O. Luck, Mrs. Wallis Monroe, Mrs. B. W. Edwards, Mrs. Jimmy Arnold, Mrs. Charles Stone, and Mrs. Carl Bramlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Laffel Gentry, Little Rock, were Thursday visitors in Hope to help plan a Hope High Class reunion for this summer.

Ruth Class Meets
The Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church met in the Fellowship Hall, Tuesday night.
An arrangement of red roses were on the serving table, from which lemon supreme cake and coffee was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Ben Owen, President of the class presided over the business session. Mrs. Roy Mouser brought an impressive devotional, using as her subject, "My Spring Wardrobe."

Khrushchev in Contact With Moscow

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

CAIRO (AP)—Maximum security precautions are being quietly tightened for the arrival of Premier Khrushchev Saturday, and special communication equipment has been installed to give the Soviet leader instant contact with Moscow.

Troops, police and plainclothes agents from Egyptian army intelligence have been assigned to guard Khrushchev. Reports said as many as 200 Soviet security agents will accompany the premier.

Special telephone lines to Moscow were reported being set up from Cairo and Aswan 430 miles to the south, to Moscow.

Khrushchev's route will take him from Alexandria, his port of landing, to Cairo, Port Said and other points.

As a further precaution two special planes have been sent from the Soviet Union to take Khrushchev around the United Arab Republic. Soviet sources said the premier would not fly aboard Egyptian planes—many of which were built by the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev's ship, the Armenia, will arrive for a festive welcome at Alexandria Saturday morning. With President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Khrushchev will immediately plunge into a busy schedule.

There will be a series of speeches and talks with Nasser, visits to factories, the pyramids and sphinx, and tours of the massive Soviet-financed Aswan High Dam project. But 13 afternoons have been kept free so Khrushchev can rest.

Next Thursday, after the dedication ceremonies at Aswan, Khrushchev and Nasser will spend a day fishing in the Red Sea from the official yacht Hourryia.

The Soviet leader's flight home is scheduled for May 25 but unofficial sources said there is a possibility he will stay one more day to rest.

In the network schedule. Before the "Emmy" awards balloting takes place, there will be considerable incidental electioneering lighting up the nation's television screens.

Marriage of Art and Religion

Religion in the News

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Each year, America spends billions of dollars for new churches, the modern design of which causes tradition-minded worshippers to wonder if the architects and the clergy have had a parting of the ways.

Those doubters would have found their answer recently in Dallas where more than 1,000 of the nation's leading church architects and religious leaders demonstrated that there is a unity of purpose and "a marriage between art and religion."

The National Conference on Church Architecture reflected agreement that today's often startling structures can mean as much to 20th-century man as the massive Gothic forms of the Middle Ages.

"Old art and modern art have the same thing in common — they are each in step with their times," said the Rev. Roger Ortmyer, professor of Christianity and the arts at Southern Methodist University's Perkins School of Theology.

"Religion and art are married — a marriage made in heaven and no divorce is possible," Dr. Ortmyer said. "But heavy-handed tradition is the mother-in-law."

"For a work of architecture to be understood by common people, by the man in the street it must cling to the symbolic shape that gives it character, although it may be dressed according to the fashion of the moment. Style changes but character must stand," said Dr. Felix Candela, distinguished Mexican architect.

All good art becomes in a sense religious even though it is not ecclesiastical, Edward Andersov, a Northfield, Minn., architect told the conference.

"I'll take $10, myself," said one.
"No, $800,000," said another.

Actor Cary Grant and film director Jean Negulesco were among those who noticed the work — a 14-by-3-foot mural — and made inquiries about buying it.

It's a watercolor called "a trip to the Airport," and it was done by 28 Los Angeles first-graders. Grant and Negulesco spotted it — on separate occasions — at Los Angeles International Airport.

It turned out to be priceless. No one knew whose it was, to ask the price.

The tag with the artists' identification had fallen off the back. A citywide hunt for the creators ended when teachers at Alameda Elementary School recognized it as the mural of Bonnie Halfacre's first-grade class.

The airport, sponsors of a children's art display, returned the work to the artists Thursday.

"That's my jet," said Larry Gutierrez, 8.
"I did the restaurants," said Carol Plumb, 7, pointing to what looked like terminal buildings. Only half the original 28 are still in the school in Highland Park, and Miss Halfacre is working in Provo, Utah. The children are second-graders, now.

"It is an exceptionally good piece of children's art," said Inez Holt, principal, when the work was done.

If a wealthy traveler buys their work the 14 remaining creators won't share the $10 — or the $800,000 — it brings. Except indirectly. It'll go to buy new books for the school library.

"DEAR ABBY"

It Pay To Be Honest!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100's on almost all his tests. I stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me wrong! I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

Dear Cheated: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

Dear Abby: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. No comment. I brought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color — blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought he'd like. No comment. Everyone else tells me

Cheated
Dear Abby: Last night I served blueberry pie for dessert and my husband, whom I shall call Dr. Jekyll, turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for blueberry pie because it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth, and asked why I insist on having it down his throat. Abby, I have been baking blueberry pie for 26 years (it's my favorite) and I always thought my husband liked it. I felt so bad I cried all night. Was I wrong or was he?

Blueberry Mary
Dear Mary: If a man doesn't like something his wife cooks (or bakes), he shouldn't wait 26 years to tell her. Tell Mr. Hyde you are no mind reader. And let him eat cake!

Confidential to San Antonio Rose: It's anybody's guess as to why he changed his name twice, but if I were you I would quit guessing and find out.

Owners Worry About Dodgers Poor Showing

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are officials of the Los Angeles Dodgers beginning to be concerned with the sputtering start made by the defending world champions?

That seemed to be the big question today following two developments—still another loss by the weak-hitting Dodgers, 2-1 to the Houston Colts Thursday night, and a trade report involving pitcher Johnny Podres.

Denied by the Dodgers, the report stated flatly that Colt officials had been offered Podres, who in his only appearance on April 25 was struck in the elbow by a Warren Spahn pitch and has been on the mound for only two innings this season.

"I know nothing whatsoever about it," said Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi. "I haven't talked to anyone on the Houston club. There's absolutely nothing to it."

The loss to the Colts was the 13th in 22 games for the Dodgers and left them six games behind the National League leading San Francisco Giants. The Dodgers are in front of only the Colts and New York Mets. In all, the Dodgers have scored only 73 runs and hit only 14 homers—eight by Frank Howard. Maury Wills, who collected four hits against the Colts for a .309 batting average, is the only regular hitting over .300. The team is batting .235, eighth in the league.

While the Dodgers were battling their problems, Tom Haller's two-run single in the eighth gave San Francisco a 7-6 edge over the Chicago Cubs. Clay Dalrymple's two-run homer started Philadelphia on the way to a 9-6 victory over Milwaukee. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and the New York Mets nipped Cincinnati 3-2.

In the American League, Cleveland walloped Baltimore 9-4. Minnesota crushed the Los Angeles Angels 9-1. Boston whipped Detroit 7-3 and the New York Yankees downed Washington 9-6. Kansas City and the Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

The Colts scored in the fifth on a single by Walt Bond, a double by Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly. Winning pitcher Bob Bruce led off the sixth with a single and came around with the clincher on a sacrifice and Al Spangler's single.

Dalrymple, hitless in 22 previous trips to the plate, hammered his homer off Hank Fischer following a single by John Herrnstein, snapping a 2-2 tie. The Phillies took it from there. Herrnstein had a double and two singles for the night. Art Mahaffey, tagged for homers by Joe Torre and Eddie Mathews, needed Jack Baldschun's relief help before getting the victory.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing the Cubs 6-5, but singles by Jesus Alou and Willie Mays the third hit for each—set up Haller's game-winning single off Lindy McDaniel. Mays' three hits lifted his average to .479. Billy Williams went 4-for-5 for the Cubs, who pulled out to a 4-0 first inning lead, but couldn't hold it.

Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer in the first inning, but Curt Simmons, now 3-2, and Roger Craig stopped the Pirates the rest of the way. The Cardinals scored all their runs in the fourth against Bob Veale.

Al Jackson evened his record at 3-3 by scattering nine Reds' first-inning homer off Jim Maloney. His first-inning homer off Jim Maloney, gave the Mets a lead they never lost. Charlie Smith scored for New York in the second when he singled, stole second and came across on a single by Al Moran. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds.

Player Leads But Says He's Not Greedy

By JAMES MANGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gary Player, first-round leader of the $75,000 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament with a crisp two-under-par 68, says he will be happy with straight par from here on out.

"I'm not greedy," the slim little South African said with a grin. "I'll take three 70s."

The heavy wet weather which hampered many of the big names in Thursday's opening round was predicted again for today. Accurate driving, always important on the 7,122-yard Colonial, was especially vital because of the weather.

One stroke behind was scrappy Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., who also played a near-perfect round off the tee.

Both Jacobs and Player were in the rough on only one drive, and they each took par on those holes.

They were the only two players in the 72-man field to shoot sub-par golf. The last time par proved so tough for an opening day was in the 1963 U.S. Open.

Grouped at par 70 were Gay Brewer of Dallas, Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., Al Besselink of Merchantville, N.J., and Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth.

Arnold Palmer blew to a fat 75, one stroke ahead of Jack Nicklaus at 76. Defending champ Julius Boros shot a 77.

This year's Colonial field is probably the strongest of any tournament this year. Of the current 50 leading money winners, 45 are competing for the top prize of $14,000.

Player, former PGA and Masters champion, is making only his eighth start on the 1964 professional tour. He finished second to Boros in the Colonial last year. Player is 13th on the official money list with $13,840.

Power Punchers Clash Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Light heavyweights Allen Thomas of Chicago and Bobby Foster of Washington D.C. both power punchers, clash tonight in the first free television bout in Chicago since 1960.

The 10-rounder in the Coliseum will be carried by ABC starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Thomas, 23, has a 19-3-1 record with 12 kayoes. In Ring Magazine's May rating he was moved into the top 10 contenders for Willie Pastrano's 175-pound title.

Foster, 25, recently featured in a national TV boxing documentary, outpointed Ferdinand Proietti, 144½, Italy, 10.

LOS ANGELES — Dwight Hawkins, 119½, Los Angeles, outpointed Moi Torres, 121½, Guadalajara, Mexico, 10.

Little Loop Rules About Baseball

Rules and decisions governing Little League baseball.

Situation — Batter receives a base on balls. Catcher immediately turns and asks umpire to call time. Umpire ignores request and while catcher is complaining the batter-runner goes to second.

Decision — A base on balls is a live ball and time is not granted until the batter-runner shows no inclination to advance beyond first base. Rule 4-08.

Oliva Hottest Hitter in the American Loop

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Credit Tony Oliva's mother and Fidel Castro for giving Minnesota the hottest all-around hitter in the American League today.

Oliva, the Twins' rookie right fielder, ranks second in the league with a .427 batting average, 18 runs batted in and seven home runs following his onslaught against the Los Angeles Angels in the Twins' 9-1 victory Thursday.

He hammered two home runs, one of them a grand slam, rilled two singles and drove in six runs. The output gave him a .581 average in his last seven games.

The 23-year-old Cuban would not even be in the United States today, let alone in the AL spotlight, if Mrs. Oliva hadn't offered some sage advice three years ago.

Oliva, in the country for the first time, was homesick and telephoned his mother for advice.

"You can come back any time; it is your home," Mrs. Oliva said. "But if you come here, you may not get permission to go back to the United States."

Fidel Castro of course, was dictating departures at the time. That cured Oliva's homesickness.

Three other games were played in the AL Thursday. New York knocked off Washington 9-8, Cleveland overpowered Baltimore 9-4 and Boston whipped Detroit 7-3.

In National League action, New York knocked off Washington 9-6, Cleveland overpowered Baltimore 9-4 and Boston whipped Detroit 7-3.

In National League action, Houston nipped Los Angeles 2-1, St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 4-2, Philadelphia outslugged Milwaukee 9-6, San Francisco edged Chicago 7-6 and New York squeezed by Cincinnati 3-2.

Oliva smashed the grand slam, his first in the majors, in the sixth inning when the Twins exploded for five runs and wiped out a 1-1 tie. He singled in a run in the fifth.

The left-handed slugger's performance paved the way for Jim Kaat's third victory against one loss. Joe Adcock's second-inning home run was the only run off Kaat.

The Yankees got a tie-breaking single from Tom Tresh in the seventh and added two runs in the ninth for their victory over the Senators. New York tied the game 6-6 in the sixth when Bobby Richardson singled, stole second and scored on Hector Lopez' third hit of the night.

Dick Howser rapped three singles and knocked in four runs as Jim Grant won his second game for the Indians against two losses. Howser brought home two runs in the sixth and another two in the eighth.

Grant and Tito Francona contributed two-run homers to Cleveland's attack. Boog Powell drove across three of the Orioles' runs with a third-inning double and a single in the seventh.

A pair of two-run homers also helped Boston against the Tigers. Rookies Dalton Jones and Tony Conigliaro hit them, supporting Jack Lamabe's third victory without a defeat. Dick Stuart singled home the two deciding runs in the seventh.

Hogs Rest in Preparation for Big Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—The Arkansas Razorbacks rested today for the second and last Red-White game of the spring practice season in Little Rock Saturday night.

Coach Frank Broyles, scheduled to fly from the Southwest Conference meeting in Lubbock, Tex., to Little Rock Saturday, will be looking for two things:

—An aggressive defense.

—A running game.

Broyles complained after the first game here last Saturday of an impotent ground attack and lack luster defense.

The team spent the past three days in signal drills, refraining from heavy contact. Apparent

Bottom Leads Top of Racing Is Saturday

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The $50,000-added Withers and $7,500 Preakness Prep, money-wise the top and bottom of the national feature events, top Saturday's thoroughbred racing program because of their relationship to the May 16 running of the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico.

Neither the one mile of the Withers at Aqueduct or the 1 1-16 miles of Prep at Pimlico are limited to Preakness eligibles. But a top performance by any of the Preakness eligibles in either of the races could mean the unenviable assignment of clashing with Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer and runner-up Hill Rise in the second race of the Triple Crown. The Preakness is at 1 3-16 miles.

The Withers, a true test of speed, figures to attract a field of 11 or 12 3-year-olds. The Preakness eligibles include the Calumet Farm pair of Kentucky Jug and Ky. Pioneer, R.N. Webster's twosome of Traffic and National and Black Mountain and A Deck, also an entry.

Prominent among the non-eligibles are Lord Date, Riot Squad and Roman Coun. Riot Squad will be ridden by Bill Hartack, who won the Kentucky Derby last Saturday.

Knighly Manner and Big Pete are the two name candidates for the Preakness Prep. Knighly Manner won the Chesapeake Stakes at Laurie the last time out and ran second to Hill Rise in the Santa Anita Derby. Big Pete is unbeaten in two sprint races this year. One of his victories was in the recent Delaware Valley Stakes at Garden State Park.

Willie Shoemaker, aboard Hill Rise in the torrid stretch duel with Northern Dancer and Hartack in the Derby, is at Pimlico to ride the great 3-year-old filly, Blue Norther, in the 1 1-16 miles of the $20,000-added Black Eyed Susan for 3-year-old fillies at Pimlico. Blue Norther won the Kentucky Oaks at Churchill Downs and Ashland Stakes at Keeneland before coming East.

BATTING—Tony Oliva, Twins, collected two homers—one a grand slam—and two singles, driving in six runs and lifting his batting average to .427 in Minnesota's 9-1 wallop of the Los Angeles Angels.

PITCHING — Jack Lamabe, Red Sox, won his third game without a loss since leaving the bullpen for a starter's role, allowing only six hits in a 7-3 victory over Detroit.

Nikita's Ship Unnoticed in Bosphorus

By HAL MCCLURE

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev's liner sailed almost unnoticed through the Bosphorus Strait and past Istanbul today en route to Egypt.

The sleek white liner, the Armenia, took about half an hour to traverse the 16-mile Bosphorus which links the Black Sea with the Sea of Marmara. There were no crowds. A few Turks waved at the ship.

Khrushchev came out on deck as the vessel stopped to take on a Turkish pilot before it passed through submarine nets at the head of the Bosphorus. He reappeared with his wife, Nina, and others as the ship passed Istanbul to gaze at the picturesque skyline.

From aboard the liner, Khrushchev sent a message to Premier Ismet Inonu and the Turkish people, wishing them "well-being and prosperity."

A Turkish police boat escorted the Armenia part way through the Bosphorus but no other safety measures were taken.

Khrushchev will spend more than two weeks in the United Arab Republic, where he is due to arrive Saturday.

He will participate in the May 15th dedication of a bypass channel at the Soviet-aided Aswan Dam project.

Defends Ruling on School Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking at the dedication of a cathedral tower, declared today the Constitution's separation of church and state is "for the protection not only of the state, but of faith itself."

Thus Warren alluded to the renewed controversy over the Supreme Court's decisions holding that required prayers and Bible reading in public schools are unconstitutional.

The House Judiciary Committee is now hearing witnesses on proposals to amend the Constitution to permit prayers and Bible reading in the schools.

Warren, in remarks prepared for the dedication of the bell tower at Washington Episcopal Cathedral, said that "though our Founding Fathers maintained and we have preserved a separation of church and state, we are a religious people."

"The underlying concepts of our system of justice are ethical or religious, if you please. They derive from our convictions about the dignity of man."

Warren declared "our national life reflects a religious people" and recalled that the Supreme Court itself had said "the history of man is inseparable from the history of religion, and

Somebody Flubbed VE Day Flags

DECORAH, Iowa (AP)—

Somebody flubbed and flags in honor of VE Day, the day of Allied victory in Europe during World War II, were put up a day in advance Thursday.

When people telephoned Bill Walker, Chamber of Commerce manager, and Bob Bernatz, street commissioner, they were told:

"Today the flags are being flown in honor of Sam Sande's birthday. They also will be flown tomorrow in honor of VE Day."

since the beginning of that history many people have devoutly believed that "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

"But," added Warren, "religion is, under our Constitution, incapable of state establishment; this is for the protection not only of the state, but of faith itself, in all its forms."

"The interaction of religion and the state is, therefore, made informal and free, not barren and nonexistent as some suppose. It is as fruitful and unfettered as we have the strength to make it."

That same night Clarke, the Englishman, came to Malcolm's room. "Domingo wants you," he said.

The smoke from the cigarette stuck to his lower lip curled up slowly about his gray face, and blurred the look of cautious cruelty in his gray eyes.

Domingo's bar was crowded with fishermen but the poker table was empty. Clarke led Malcolm into a room behind the bar, in which were a sofa, hollowed out like a hammock from Domingo's great weight, and a desk covered with dusty bills and correspondence. They continued down a flight of stairs to a dimly lighted corridor whose brick walls were slick with moisture. After they had walked along for 20 yards or so, Malcolm noticed that the surface of the walls had changed; instead of brick, it was a roughly hewn rock, and he realized that they were in a tunnel hacked into the side of the mountain behind Domingo's bar.

They entered a narrower tunnel, and after about 10 yards came to a closed door made of thick, solidly braced slabs of wood.

Clarke knocked twice and the door was pulled open a few seconds later by Domingo. He stared impassively at Malcolm for an instant, and then sighed wearily and struck him across the face with a hand as thick as a two-by-four and wide as a ping-pong paddle.

"Bring him in," he said to Clarke.

Clarke stood by the barred door in a negligent but watchful posture, with a cigarette glowing from his lips in the gloom. He was looking at Malcolm, almost, but not quite, smiling.

In a corner of the room, almost lost in the shadows, an elderly man sat erectly in a straight-backed chair, his hands resting on the top of a cane. He wore a wide-brimmed hat, and Malcolm could see the gleam of his polished, ankle-high boots in the murky light.

A knock shook the door and Clarke raised the heavy rod which barred it. When he pulled open the door, Paco came sprawling into the room, propelled from behind by a powerful shove from Zarren.

Domingo lifted Paco to his feet by the lapels of his well-cut jacket, and shook him so savagely and relentlessly that the young Spaniard's head snapped back and forth as if his neck were broken.

Finally, Domingo threw him aside as he would a filthy rag, and strode back to where Malcolm sat against the wall.

"You talked to him about the guns, eh?" he said, bending down to shout the words into Malcolm's face.

Malcolm began to laugh. "Sure I talked to Paco about the guns," he said.

The anger faded slowly from Domingo's face. He stared incredulously at Malcolm.

"He admits it," Domingo said, turning to stare at Zarren and Clarke.

"Ah, he's clever," Clarke said. "He guessed straight away. I heard him and Paco at the party, clacking like bloody hens."

Domingo turned back to Malcolm. "You know he heard you?"

"No, but I might have guessed it," Malcolm said. "He's the sort you usually find with his ear at half-open doors."

"Where did you find out about the guns?" Domingo said quietly.

Malcolm nodded at Paco. "From him."

"He's lying," Paco said in a trembling voice. Struggling to his knees, he stared imploringly at Domingo. Paco's eyes bulged piteously from their sockets, and all his love of life, love for the breath in his lungs and the blood coursing through his slim body, were nakedly revealed by the fear and agony in his straining features.

Domingo shrugged and looked at Malcolm. "So he calls you a liar. What of that?"

"His woman has a daughter. Paco bragged to her about getting rich, and made a joke about the guns. The little girl didn't understand what it meant. She told me, and I guessed at it."

Domingo frowned at him. "Just guns, that's all you know. Nothing else?"

Malcolm shook his head.

Domingo looked down at Paco's kneeling figure. "And

LBJ Calls for

bers of the Georgia Legislature. His remarks, canvassing what he termed the "many troubles" of the South, were certain to be regarded as unusually significant.

Winding up a six-state tour of poverty-pocked Appalachia, the President suggested that in searching for racial justice, Georgia and the South "have a sure and faithful guide—the Constitution of the United States."

He declared: "Because the Constitution requires it—and because justice demands it—we must protect the constitutional rights of all of our people."

"For no one of us is fully free until all of us are fully free. And the rights of no single American are truly secure until the rights of all Americans are secure."

Johnson said that "racial problems have deep roots in Southern soil." However, he emphasized his view that such problems are not peculiar to any single section, saying: "They also trouble the passions of men on the shores of Maryland, in the slums of Philadelphia and in the streets of New York."

Actually, he took a hopeful view of the tribulations of the South, with these words: "We may well find racial peace in much of the South before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson also appealed for rejection of extremism. Conjuring memories of the Civil War, he said:

"Heed not those who come waving the tattered and discredited banners of the past—who seek to stir old hostilities and kindle old hatreds—who preach battle between neighbors and bitterness between states. That is the way back toward the anguish from which we came."

The President, covering considerable ground in 2,400 words, even made indirect reference to his own unannounced but obvious plans to seek election to a four-year term in November.

Declaring that "we are today one nation, one people, one America," Johnson said: "I would not be looking forward to November, were this not true. And I am looking forward to November."

In his swift passage Thursday through Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee and North Carolina, Johnson also made clear his zest for his job and his hope of retaining it.

This was most clear in a speech at Knoxville, Tenn., when he coupled an appeal for support of his antipoverty program with jabs at two Republicans who may try to get his job in the fall—former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Johnson said Republicans already are calling his antipoverty proposals a "cruel hoax"—words used last week by Nixon. And he said that if such men had their way, "The 'for sale' sign would be on TVA this very hour." It was Goldwater who once suggested that the Tennessee Valley Authority be put up for sale.

The sharpest jabs, included in Johnson's prepared text, were omitted in delivery. But the traveling White House said he stood by them.

In these passages, he labeled "cruel hoax" critics and those who would sell TVA as "men of timid faith and narrow vision."

And he added: "I do not believe you want to entrust the American dream to men who would turn it into a nightmare."

In Atlanta and half a dozen other cities in Appalachia and the South, cheering thousands turned out to greet the President. Total official estimates of the crowds along the way came to nearly half a million.

Whatever the number, and official estimates often get inflated, the number was impressive.

For his address to the men who make the laws of Georgia, Johnson obviously sought to make his remarks the more acceptable by linking them to the state's motto—wisdom, justice, moderation.

He cited justice in talking about civil rights. He cited wisdom in urging the rejection of extremism. And he cited moderation in touching on the problems of poverty, urban expansion and conservation.

On the latter point, Johnson said: "To meet such problems, in such a varied and ample land as ours, bold action requires broad agreement—and consensus requires moderation."

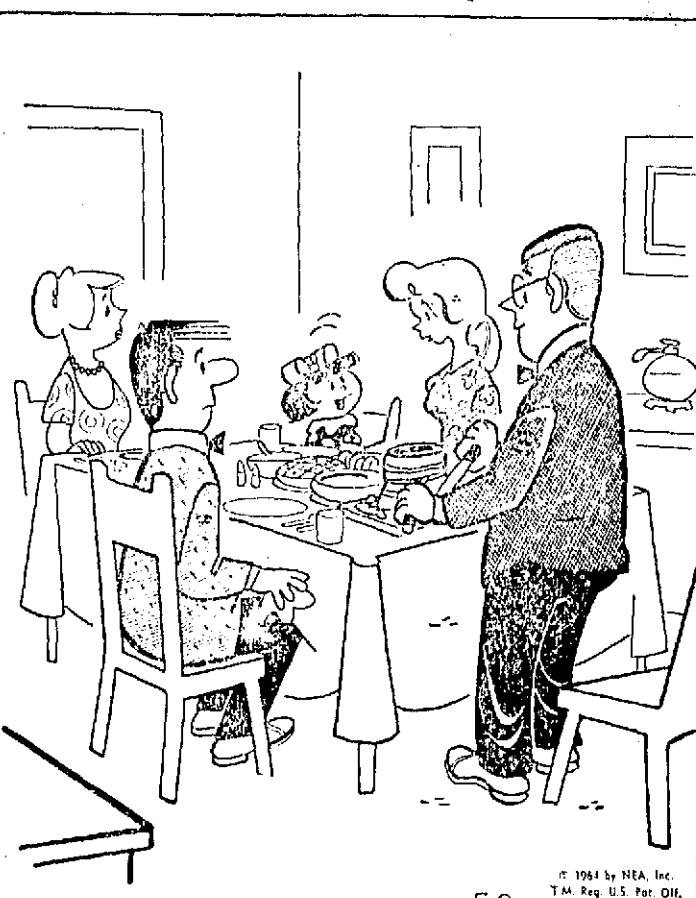

Recalling Georgian Henry Grady's 1886 prophecy of a "New South," Johnson said Grady's words not long ago "seemed less a hopeful prophecy than a hollow promise."

Alluding to the aftermath of the Civil War, the President continued: "Old ways had crumbled—carrying with them that which was fine as well as that which was flawed—replaced by a blighted land and a bitter people."

Today, he said, "we see a New South—a South of union

Despite His Early Dislike for Practice He Has Made a Niche in Musical World

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 4, Peter Nero was able to make up tunes on a toy xylophone.

At 7, while visiting relatives, he began picking out the same tunes on a battered old upright piano.

By the time he was 14, Peter had won several awards and made a number of symphony hall appearances. He was regarded as a child prodigy, and it was taken for granted by his teachers and family that he would become a concert pianist.

"But the most important thing in this world is to be honest with yourself," said Peter. "The turning point in my life came at 22 when I decided I didn't want to be a classical concert artist. I always hated to practice, and you can't hate and freedom."

"You bear the mark of a Southern heritage," he said, "but that which is Southern is far less important than that which is American."

to practice and be that kind of a professional artist."

Despite his early dislike for spending long hours at the piano, Nero went on to carve his own unique niche in the musical world.

At 29, featuring a blend of classical forms with jazz improvisations, he has become perhaps the most successful "pop" pianist in the field.

Each year he does 100 concerts, appear on up to dozen television shows, and turns out three albums. He also has composed 30 tunes, acted in and written the music score for a film, and signed to do three more films.

Peter certainly suffered no financial loss by turning his back on a purely classical career.

He worked several years on the cocktail lounge and supper club circuit.

He foresees no great change forthcoming in American music. "The market today is domi-

Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

The newest thing in the Arkansas rice industry is plastics. Thirty years ago rice farmers built their levees for flooding the rice, then chopped gates in them with hoes and chinked them with mud to control the water level in the field.

After World War II they turned to wooden gates, then came steel.

A Stuttgart firm, Tasco Plastics, Inc., has come up with a plastic levee gate that it claims will last a dozen more years in the field than steel with practically no maintenance.

The product was kept under wraps for some six years, says Shelby Simpson, one of three founders of the firm, while Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla. did laboratory work to find the best materials.

The first gate was brought out three years ago on an experimental basis. In 1962 the firm had only three of the gates in use, but this had increased to 50 by last year.

Simpson said the gates are made with a special plastic designed to withstand corrosion from the water, rust and the effects of chemicals and fertilizers.

The gate weighs 13.5 pounds, compared to from 47 to 3 pounds for steel gates, Simpson said, and has a life endurance of 15 years.

The steel gate industry is described by him as "a big operation" but the actual cash value is difficult to determine since the gates are made in local welding shops, by the farmers and by firms.

Tasco is hoping to get a slice of this business though, by producing a competitively priced gate — $1 higher, Simpson says — with advantages over steel. The gate isn't patented, Simpson said, but is registered.

The firm has only a few employees now, but is working toward becoming a booming rice belt industry.

If so, it would be part of an nated by teen-agers, so it is difficult to tell what the real musical tastes of the country are. Teen-agers seem to have a lot more money to spend than they did 15 or 20 years ago."

What about England's latest gift to culture—the long-haired Beatles?

"I think the Beatles are wonderful—but I still like music myself," he said.

strong winds, hit many areas as the warm humid air from the Gulf region set off the storms.

About 20 persons were injured when a twister struck a residential area of Waterloo, Iowa, a city of about 78,000, and a trailer court in nearby Raymond. Fifteen persons were hospitalized. A tornado also skipped across farm areas northwest of Waterloo in Fayette County, damaging buildings on at least 10 farms.

Fourteen persons were injured and at least 10 mobile homes damaged as a tornado slammed into a trailer court northeast of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., a town of about 15,000.

Summer-like weather prevailed in much of the eastern half of the nation but unseasonably cool temperatures were reported in parts of the Far West.

before committing themselves to any agreement.

Dirksen's support is regarded as essential, however, to rounding up the 67 votes that will be needed if all 100 senators vote — to put the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect.

Dirksen to Unfold Rights Bill Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois plans to put before administration officials today the changes he overall $82 million a year crop industry that is described this year as being "in good shape."

Planting has not been overly delayed by rains.

L. C. Carter of the Arkansas Rice Growers Cooperative says surpluses are too large since the industry was able to move the largest amount of rice ever last year. The crop should be 90 per cent complete by the end of this week, he said.

Very little rice was taken over by the government for storage, he said.

Arkansas will grow rice on 430,000 acres this year, with yields of 95 to 100 bushels per acre expected.

Carter said the most significant development in rice in the last few years has been the increased usage of fertilizers and weed control chemicals.

He said that on 430,000 acres planted to rice last year, Arkansas farmers produced as much rice as they did in 1954 on 680,000 acres.

wants in the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill.

A key figure in negotiations aimed at breaking the Senate's impasse over the House-passed measure, Dirksen already has presented 69 proposed amendments to other sections in conferences held in his office this week.

Participating in the conferences have been Senate leaders of both parties and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and his top aides in the civil rights field.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, has expressed hope the talks will produce agreement on a package of amendments that will make it possible to muster the required two-thirds majority to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents.

He said he saw little chance of making headway in the Senate debate, now in its 51st day, pending the outcome of these conferences on amendments.

Dirksen told newsmen the presentation of his amendments to the section of the bill prohibiting discrimination in privately owned places of public accommodation would mark "the end of the trail as far as my proposals are concerned."

Humphrey and other administration leaders have been insistent on having all of Dirksen's amendments put on the table

DEAR FRIENDS:

My cow herd started from a small nucleus of Angus purchased from my father, D. K. Roth, Roth Farms, Gibson City, Illinois. Some of you have seen this fine herd and the improvements made in it with sons and daughters of Dor Macs Bardoliermere 65.

It is with great pleasure that I invite you to my first sale of "Black Beauties". Come, be with us on Saturday, May 16.

This is an all female sale, featuring the services of Dor Mac Bardoliermere 65 and there will be cows with calves at foot — bred and open heifers, featuring services of the "65th." Featured, too, will be a champion "Pride 57 of Haystack" with an outstanding show heifer calf at foot, sired by Perth Supreme Champion, Panarama of Eastfield.

Other groups in this sale are sired by Banner of Belladrum, Elation of Eastfield, Staley Ermita 11, Elegance of Charterhouse, Ankonian Eclipse and Viscount of Breckenridge.

Come look them over. All are invited.

Cordially,
FREEDA
